Judge Burke Elected to 4th Court Term

Judge Louis H. Burke, who was elected to a fourth one-year term as presiding justice of the Superior Court of Appeals.

Meeting at the County Courthouse, the judges heard arguments from both sides in the election between Judge Burke, whose term began July 1, and the other three candidates, all of whom stated in closing Judge Burke himself.

Under state rules, the balloting is confined to those on the bench, and the presiding judge is to be reelected if he has been on the court in the event that the majority had voted to banish him. Burke had voted to banish him, so the election opened to the possible election of anyone else by a majority of the members of the court.

Judge Burke, 58, was appointed to the Superior Court in 1947 and became presiding judge in 1953. He was retained in the elections of 1956 and 1958, and again in 1959. Following the balloting, he was reelected as presiding justice, and his term was unanimous on motion of Judge Burke himself.

The judges also discussed at the meeting the question of providing additional facilities and more convenient locations for branch courts now conducted in Paramount, Bellflower, Pacoima, Fernando, Ingewood, Pomona, and City Center.

7 Artists Win Ad Awards

Seven Southern California artists have won honors in a previous showing of advertising art, held recently by the Society of Illustrators of Los Angeles at the Oita Art Institute, 1000 Wilshire Blvd.

The display, composed of 130 entries, will be open to the public at the Oita Art Institute, 1000 Wilshire, until Dec. 1.

Prizes were awarded by Nixon and Gandy, president and vice-president of the society, for color and black-and-white illustrations in four categories: institutional, editorial, advertising illustration, and one for unclassified or unpublished work.

The winners are: John Wyzocki, Hollywood Bob Sennett, Los Angeles; Jim Harlan, all of Los Angeles; Harry L. Johnson, Santa Barbara; and Marie Shore, of Santa Barbara, for best overall winter in the institutional and advertising classes.

Man Found Guilty in Coed Slaying

A verdict of first-degree murder was returned yesterday against Raymond J. Schach, 21, accused of the campus slaying of a female student at the University of Southern California last August 19.

The trial, which began Aug. 1, was adjourned for a week yesterday.

The jury in Superior Court found Schach guilty of first-degree murder after deliberating for five hours. The defense had argued that the witness who had seen the victim walking alone in the campus hallways was mistaken.

Mr. Schach and his defense attorney, Robert H. Miller, had agreed to a plea bargain under which Schach would determine the penalty Monday.

Gandhar Sculpture Will Be Discussed

Bernard Rosenthal, professor of art at the University, will discuss the ex-old Santa Ana Public Library building, which housed

Pakistan on exhibit in Los Angeles for $10,200 to $12,000.

The discussion will be Monday at 8:30 p.m.

Sherman Oaks Home Struck by Mud Slide

When J. W. Schach got home from work yesterday, he found his house surrounded by mud.

He had been away all day, working at a nearby plant, and when he returned he found the mud had come through the back door.

The side of the hill and a mudslide had washed down the hill, and the mud had covered the entire house. The mud had slipped thousands of tons down the hill, and when it hit the house, it caused the roof to cave in.

Mr. Schach and his wife, Mrs. Schach, had been sleeping in their bed when the mud hit the house.

They were awakened by the noise of the mud hitting the house.
